Avocado farming in the Garden Route 'GREEN GOLD' BOOMS

■ The Western Cape supplies avocados to world markets at a time when supplies are sometimes short. This means fruit from the area generally realises good value on overseas markets.

Article by Chris van Gess

PLETTENBERG BAY & KNYSNA - The Knysna and Plettenberg Bay area has seen a rapid rise in avocado tree planting in the past eight years, resulting in a tenfold increase in the number of hectares being planted in this booming Garden Route agricultural sector.

In 2017 there were 137 hectares of avocados in the entire Western Cape. Today, just eight years later, it is estimated there are about 1 400 hectares of established trees, according to Dr Guy Witney of EFN Mulcair Nursery in Wellington. Witney's company is the only Western Cape supplier of commercial clonal avocado trees to the industry.

Witney said the pioneers of avocados in the Western Cape started planting orchards in the early 2000s. For the next decade there was slow expansion until around 2018. When trees became more accessible, there was a rapid wave of expansion. Most orchards were initially established in the foothills of the Outeniqua Mountains, between Mossel Bay and George.

New avocado project

"Recent interest in the area between Wilderness and Plettenberg Bay has seen several new avocado projects in the making," said Witney.

To date, about 130 hectares of new avocado orchards have been planted between Wilderness and Plettenberg Bay. It takes two to three years for trees to bear a significant crop. The Southern Cape production area plugs a seasonal supply demand, making avoc available 12 months of the year.

"Of course the associated industries like trucking, farm supply companies and packing industries add further jobs in an almost 1:1 ratio in on-farm to off-farm jobs."

"New farmers in the area have had to find the perfect combination of microclimate, well-drained soil, and a reliable supply of good quality water to be successful. This isn't as easy as it may sound since farms with all these requirements are hard to find and land values in the area are high. Nonetheless, a half dozen farmers have established the new avocado footprint in the area," said Witney.

Job creation

With every three hectares of avocados planted, about one permanent job and two more casual farm jobs are created in farming.

"Of course the associated industries like trucking, farm supply companies and packing industries add further jobs in an almost 1:1 ratio in on-farm to off-farm jobs," said Witney. "South African fruit production depends largely on exports. Avocados are no exception. The Western Cape supplies avocados to world markets at a time when supplies are sometimes short. This means fruit from the area generally realises good value on overseas markets."

Currently most South African avocados head to the European market. A proportion also goes to the Middle East and South Africa recently gained access to markets in India, China and Japan.

Knysna entrepreneurs claim spotlight

Wyndham Ewerts

KNYSNA - Local award-winning entrepreneur Cecilia Roelf took centre stage at the Voice & Choice Summit and Awards held in Johannesburg last week, where she was named first runner-up in the Established Business category.

Awards were presented across several categories, including Stories of Change, Leadership, Organisational Excellence, and Change Strategy, recognising initiatives that are transforming communities, influencing public policy, and strengthening institutions that advance gender justice.

Cecilia Roelf

Roelf, who has managed a printing and secretarial services company since 2024, was among more than 200 activists, community leaders, entrepreneurs and media representatives from at least eight countries who gathered for the high-profile event.

Roelf was deeply grateful for the support from her community who stood by her during difficult times. "Before 2024, I was unemployed, which makes this achievement even more meaningful,"

she said. "I also want to thank my husband and children for their support and for staying up late with me while I worked. My husband also came up with the name of the business. A special word of thanks goes to Knysna Press and Blitsdruk for their quick response in preparing banners in record time. This award reflects the many late nights and long hours I have dedicated to building my business."

Fagmeeda Bezuidenhout

Roelf also played a key role in supporting fellow honoree Fagmeeda Bezuidenhout, a resident of Kanonkop, who was the winner in the Start-up category. Her enterprise was recognised for its entrepreneurial innovation and contribution to local economic empowerment, particularly in creating opportunities for women in business support services. Bezuidenhout runs a small business supplying basic food hampers tailored to the specific needs of her community.

Gender equality celebrated

A major highlight of the three-day gathering was the celebration of Gender Links' 25th anniversary, marking a quarter century of advancing gender justice and promoting equal rights for women across Southern Africa. The summit took place amid growing global resistance to gender equality initiatives, with increasing pushback against women's rights, diversity and inclusion programmes in several regions. Against this challenging backdrop, the Voice & Choice Summit provided a vital platform for grassroots changemakers to share solutions, strengthen partnerships, and inspire collective action. The event concluded with a gala and awards ceremony where those who are making significant contributions toward gender equality across the region were honoured.

Diesel drought causes hiccups

Chris van Gass

KNYSNA - Diesel supplies to Knysna and Plettenberg Bay have been under strain, with some garages like Engen, Shell and Total having stock while the popular SSK AgriLand in both towns are under pressure.

AgriLand Plett and Knysna ran out of 50PPM diesel supplies on 20 March, but received much-awaited diesel on Tuesday 24 March.

Werner Kruger, chief operating officer commercial at SSK AgriLand, said its customers were informed about the situation in a letter on 20 March.

"It is difficult to give you more detail as the situation is constantly changing due to the supply that is under pressure. We are doing our best to secure fuel supply in order to service our members and customers to the best of our ability, but it takes time and it is difficult

Pioneers back in premier league

Wyndham Ewerts

PLETTENBERG BAY - The Plett Pioneers Cricket Club soared back to the premier league after a thrilling victory over Pirates United from Knysna this past Saturday, claiming the SWD Cricket Promotion League crown in front of a lively crowd at the Rec Cricket Stadium.

Batting first, the Pioneers posted a competitive 256/8 in their 50 overs, with Jacques Arendse anchoring the innings with a well-crafted 55 runs. Support came from John Koopman, who scored 48, and Leighton Bosman with 41, setting a challenging target for the Pirates.

The Knysna side's chase looked promising early on, propelled by a fluent 85 from Tyler Bezuidenhout. However, his dismissal via a run-out marked a turning point, as the Pioneers struck decisively to bowl out Pirates United for 221 in 42.2 overs, sealing a 35-run victory with more than seven overs remaining.

Darryl Damons and Sinovuyo Dali starred with the ball, each claiming three wickets (3/44 and 3/40 respectively), while Ruwayne Brinkhuis contributed with 2/41.

Saturday's triumph not only crowned Plett Pioneers as league champions, but also secured their promotion to next season's premier league competition - much to the satisfaction of players and supporters.

Scorecard summary

Plett Pioneers beats Pirates United by 35 runs:
Plett Pioneers: 256/8 - 50 overs (Jacques Arendse 55, John Koopman 48, Leighton Bosman 41, Ruwayne Brinkhuis 2/41).
Pirates United: 221 all out - 42.2 overs (Tyler Bezuidenhout 85, Enrico Oosthuizen 39, Bronwill Goede 27, Darryl Damons 3/44, Sinovuyo Dali 3/40).

Eagles extend winning run

Wyndham Ewerts

SEDGEFIELD - It was a weekend of mixed fortunes for the Pick n Pay Sedgefield Eagle Stars as their A and B sides faced Albertinia Rangers in closely contested matches in home games over the past weekend.

The Eagle Stars A-team continued their impressive form with a commanding 34-18 bonus-point victory over Albertinia Rangers.

The home side delivered a well-rounded performance, combining forward dominance with clinical finishing to secure the win.

The Eagles' pack set the tone, asserting themselves physically and controlling large portions of the game. Try scorers included Curt Ruiters (hooker), Jayron Jantjies (lock), Dehan Maritz (8th man), and Adriaan Konstable (fullback).

Konstable was also flawless off the tee, converting all four tries and adding two penalty kicks to maintain his 100% kicking record.

This bonus-point win ensures Eagle Stars A-team maintain their unbeaten start to the season, building strong momentum as the campaign progresses.

"Our forwards set the tone, and the backs executed when it mattered. We're building well as a team and are looking forward to the challenges ahead," commented coach Shevque Terblanche.

In contrast, the Eagle Stars B team suffered a narrow 14-13 home defeat, marking their first loss of the 2026 season.

No mercy was given or asked. Photo: Vernie Solomons

Despite the result, the side showed plenty of encouragement and attacking promise throughout the match.

Tries for Eagle Stars B team came from Mzoleli Am (left wing) and Jason Godfrey (fullback), while Junaid Ruiters (fly-half) contributed with a successful penalty kick. The one-point margin reflected how evenly matched the teams were on the day.

In another clash Knysna United (23-30) fell short against Unionsdale United.
